Agents raid 'super party' at Shoreline

Teen organizers had advertising 'rave'

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS

Hancock County's Narcotics and CNET Agents and Road Deputies raided a "Super Party" Friday night in Shoreline Park, Sheriff Steve Garber said yesterday.

Narcotics Division director Major Matt Karl on Saturday morning said, "It was some big party, there were about 200 in attendance, most of whom were between 16 and 18 years-of-age. It was similar to a RAVE party. We confiscated six kegs of beer, several small bags of marijuana and some prescription pills."

"This party was advertised through circulars being passed out at shopping centers in the Bay-Waveland-County area on Thursday. I personally collected 50 of them. The circulars even had a marijuana logo on them," Karl added.

A formal dedication of Bayside Volunteer Fire Department's newest fire engine was held Wednesday with U.S. Congressman Gene Taylor, as special guest. The dedication was conducted by Hancock County Sheriff's Chaplain Job Banashak. Bayside's Fire Chief is Jennifer Favaloro, Assistant Chief Donald Johnson and Chairman of the Board is Melvin Vicknar. Seven volunteers serve the department and there is room for more according to Chief Favaloro. Also attending the event were several elected officials and others of the area. The fire truck was purchased for $173,800, 90% coming from a FEMA grant and the balance from the District and Fire Department.

Noise ordinance worries tavern owner

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

Pearlington business owner Janine Evans told Supervisors that she was concerned that a proposed noise ordinance would be used to shut down her business. Evans is co-owner of bar/restaurant, Turtle Landing.

She and her husband Mark were arrested earlier this year when neighbors complained of noise from karaoke and live bands. Evans said the judge in their case told them that he was turning the matter over to supervisors. Right after that a noise ordinance was proposed leading Evans to believe that the ordinance was aimed at her and Turtle Landing, she said.

Though he said he understood her concern, District 2 Supervisor Rocky Pullman told Evans that the ordinance was not aimed at her and her business. If you are operating a business in an area zoned for that business then the ordinance is not aimed at you, said Pullman.

What the county is concerned about, he said, was businesses operating in areas not properly zoned for them, especially when they are disturbing surrounding neighbors.

Some metal fabricating shops, for instance, are operating heavy equipment until late into the night, he said, and some of them are located near residences. They are also concerned with loud music in vehicles, he said. But the county is not trying to shut down legitimate businesses, he said, nor is it concerned how loud your rooster crows.

Pullman asked Evans to turn speakers around so that the sound does not carry across Cowan's Bayou to her neighbors across the way. Evans said she had done that and had received no complaints recently. Evans turned in a petition with names of county residents who were questioning the approval of the noise ordinance.

In other business: Supervisors overturned a decision by the Planning and Zoning Board to deny a Jordan River Shores resident the right to build a deck at his home. Chris Martin presented pictures of many neighboring houses that had similar structures. He told supervisors he already had the approval of his neighborhood association and his neighbor's blessings.

The planning board wanted the deck to have a 10 ft. setback from his property line which they interpreted to be the water's edge, but Martin said his property line actually extended 11 feet into the water. He was asking permission to build the deck at the water's edge.

A public hearing was re-opened to give Ed Faye Rd. property owner William Morgan the chance to submit additional information before Supervisors make a decision about opening the street as an official county road. The Morgans only recently discovered that the county was considering opening a road that would pass about five feet from their house when renovations are complete. They were granted a permit to add an addition in April, Morgan said.

County engineer Geoffrey Clemens said that work on the Caesar Necaise

Bridge was about 90 percent complete, with road work about 60 percent complete. Contractors have about 35 working days left to complete the job within the contract time frame.

After years of negotiations the final rights of way have been signed for Texas Flat Road. The road will be paved all the way to the North Gate of Stennis Space Center. The project should be out to bid within a month, said Clemens.

Diamondhead resident Randy Randall Faehrich said he had to pay for costly repairs to clean out a Diamondhead Water and Sewer District's line when plumbing stopped up at a rental property he owns. He went to the district to ask for compensation. When they came out to look at his line they refused to pay for the repairs and ordered him to replace the three inch pipes, cutting his water service until he makes the repairs. Supervisors said they had no jurisdiction over the district and suggested he may want to take the matter to court.

Pullman suggested that the Pearllington Citizens Committee go forward with threats to take their concerns to the legal realm. "You all are unhappy with what is going on and you have mentioned the legal aspect and I think the time has come for you to pursue that," Pullman told group members. Linda Shaw told supervisors that the group was concerned for the people of Pearllington. "All we are asking is that you do the right thing for the people you are serving," said Shaw. The group formed when residents began to ask questions about a wastewater collection system slated to go in the community.

The Mississippi Deputy Sheriff's Association's conference at the Diamondhead Ramada Inn.

Hancock County hosts state Deputies Association meeting

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
 Publisher Emeritus

Hancock County Sheriff's Department hosted the annual Mississippi Deputy Sheriff's Association's annual conference July 26-29 at the Diamondhead Ramada Inn.

The association comprises some 325 members, which include sheriff's deputies, auxiliary officers, corrections officers and dispatchers, according to Association President, Jimmy Tindall, Under Sheriff of Leflore County.

Hancock County Criminal Investigator Matt Barnett is the association's southern vice-presidents, while Investigator Rita Blaize-Watson is a board of director.

During the three day conference was filled with law enforcement training sessions, including National Incident Management System (NIMS), a part of the National Homeland Security plans.

NIMS is a federally mandated training for all law enforcement officers, in which department receive federal grant monies.

A total of 108 officers attended the training, which included 10 officers from the Hancock County Sheriff's office.

Most of the sessions were to deal with Homeland Security, as NIMS topics were on each day's program.

Other training sessions involved officer survival, dealing with the mentally ill, report writing, domestic abuse/neglect of the elderly, etc.

The Mississippi Deputy Sheriff's Association was incorporated in 1984 and membership spreads across the state.

The organization consists of a Board of Directors of 14 voting members: One members from each of the nine districts established by the Mississippi Highway Patrol.

The current President and Executive Secretary/Treasurer of the organization in addition to Central, Northern and Southern Vice-presidents.

Rupert Lacy of the Harrison County Sheriff's Department is the organization's Executive Secretary/Treasurer.

Last year's annual conference was held in Vicksburg, Barnett said.

Barnett added, since in 2003, Harrison County was the sponsor and the event was held at the Diamondhead Ramada, in Hancock County, membership, voted to return to Hancock for the 2005 year.

Among the corporate sponsors for the conference in Hancock County included: Bayou Caddy Fisheries, Cash & Pawn, Joel Salisbury, and Champion Dodge - Chrysler. Sponsorships help pay for the training and keeps costs down for the deputies and departments, Barnett said.

Deputies from over 25 agencies were represented at the conference, Tindall reported.

Arrest made in vehicle burglaries

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
 Publisher Emeritus

A Waveland resident was arrested and charged with three counts of vehicular burglary and one count of grand larceny, Hancock Chief Investigator Kenny Hurt reports.

Investigator Andre' Fizer said, "Joseph Fleming, 20 of Waveland, was arrested on July 17, in connection with several vehicle burglaries dating back to June 20."

On July 1, the sheriff's office received reports of some eight vehicles burglarized and out of two, hand guns were taken too.

One of the hand guns has been recovered and the other is still being sought, Fizer said.

There is a possibility of another arrest being made in the rash of vehicular burglaries, as the investigation continues, according to Fizer.

BRAC's blunders may be good for us

A recent admission that there was a "math error" in calculating the military value of Keesler Air Force Base's hospital, targeted for closure by the Base Realignment and Closure Commission (BRAC), presents the latest example of why using a base realignment commission in lieu of Congress to evaluate military bases is a flawed, inefficient process. This error is good news for Keesler, and other BRAC blunders could spell even better news for Meridian's 186th Air National Guard Refueling wing and for Naval Station Pascagoula.

The "Math Error:" BRAC put Keesler's hospital on its hit list back in May. BRAC's proposal is to water down Keesler's hospital from a full-service facility to an outpatient clinic. But on July 12, the Air Force admitted a mathematical error when calculating the facility's military value, thrusting the hospital higher in ranking than 44 other targeted installations.

Does this mean Keesler hospital and the people and community depending on it will escape BRAC's knife? No, but it could make a big difference. It's the latest in a series of developments clearly showing that BRAC itself actually could be more inefficient and unneeded than the very installations it targets. In fact, this error was found not by anyone associated with BRAC, but by Congressman Gene Taylor's staff assistant, Brian Martin, who should be recognized for his excellent work.

Needing a Place to Go: You may recall that last year, I put forward a bill that would have compelled BRAC to first target overseas military bases, especially old Cold War-era bases in Europe. Like many Americans, I don't see why we, in the midst of a war, are closing domestic installations when we still have heavy armored divisions in Europe apparently awaiting an invasion from a nation - the Soviet Union - which collapsed 15 years ago. My measure failed by just two votes. I warned that America would have to eventually reshuffle our overseas military assets, bringing some home. When we do, we'll have to have a place to put them. Obviously we'll need our domestic bases for that purpose.

11th Hour Changes: Fast forward to May 2005, and we have Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld -

Leave the Hancock Band Program alone

"Hancock Band Program in doubt" was the headline on the front page of Sunday's paper.

In a nutshell, here's what happened: Anthony McWright, Band Director for Hancock High School and one of the five top directors in the state, set up a band clinic for the week of July 25-29 to get the band ready for the coming school year. It was going well until Thursday, July 28, when he was informed that the Athletic Department was now his boss. His clinic was canceled, and the students sent home. No warnings, no meetings, nothing.

Superintendent David Kopf blames it on Principal Donnie Gholston, who did it to streamline the administrative process. Yeah, right. Want to streamline it? Put the Athletic Department under the Band Director. Look at last year's record - the band did much better than the football team. Also, the band, under Mr. McWright, does (or did) a lot of things not related to ball games, concerts, fund raisers, parades, etc. The Athletic Department probably does not even know about some of these.

I'm told there are scholarships available to those who do well in band. I guess that's gone now, too.

One of the reasons we moved here from Louisiana was to get away from nonsense like this. I guess I didn't move far enough. Are we on our way to having a school system on par with (shudder) New Orleans?

The band's trip to Florida last spring was possible only because of Mr. McWright. No one else would have done all he did. He's a great role model, too. I don't know anyone who know him that doesn't look up to him.

Every student and parent I've talked with so far has been really incensed by this. Please, if you're a student, parent, friend, or any concerned citizen, make some noise about this. Power struggles of this kind only work when they're allowed to. And please let Mr. McWright know that we're behind him. They might find another butt to sit in his chair, but they'll never fill his shoes.

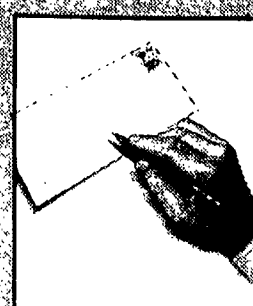

More to follow.

Everyone get ready for the 'Sound Police'

I read the letter from Alyn A. Mayo of Pearlington in the Sea Coast Echo first, then again in the Sun Herald. I also read the letter from Christian Stephen Schade of Waveland. Excellent letters.

I then read the entire Noise Ordinance that the County Board of Supervisors is planning to put into effect. My first thought was they had all lost their collective minds. The second thought was, when was I transported out of the U.S. to a country that can monitor your every thought and action? Who is going to be responding to these complaints? Do we have the manpower within our police departments and sheriff's department to handle this with everything else they're trying to do? OR - are they going to hire special Sound Police? Come on people, get real!

Please - will everyone write in to the Board of Supervisors at 150 Main St., Bay St. Louis 39520, before August 31. This has to be the most all encompassing, poorly written ordinance ever. If there is an ACLU lawyer in Hancock County, take note and please do something.

Most of us overlook periodic noise as part of life. Go in the house, shut your door, or just go back to sleep. Earplugs work great if you absolutely need them. I have elderly neighbors who mow their lawn to beat the heat, sometimes starting at 6:30 a.m. More power to them. Better that than my having to call 911 when they drop from heat stroke. Or the couple down the street with a wonderful new boat. They have to go out and run it once in awhile at the dock if they haven't been able to take it out a lot. Big deal - that's why we live on water - we're enjoying life. The people across the canal sometimes have loud parties - music, lots of kids, barbecues. Again, big deal;

it's only one night out of many in a month or year. For the most part when I go inside and turn on the TV, I can't even hear them anymore. When did it become illegal to enjoy your homes or boats? Keep your property clean? Work on your house when you have the time after getting home in the evening or on weekends? Are all our high schools going to have to get special permits to hold evening football, baseball, soccer games? Most schools are very close to neighborhoods. At Bay High in Bay St. Louis, the surrounding neighbors sit outside their homes in chairs and listen to the games from the loudspeakers. They enjoy it! They support their teams! Is that wrong?

Mr. Schade is absolutely right, it's only going to take one grumpy neighbor to make everyone's life unbearable. If anyone out there has any ideas on the best way to fight this, please send me an email. We need to do something quickly, it affects each and every one of us, private citizens and businesses!

Lott -- BRAC

at the 11th hour before release of the BRAC closure list - announcing he didn't think we had as much excess base capacity as previously calculated and that the proposed realignments would be scaled back far less than previously slated. He also talked about the need for our domestic installations to absorb assets coming back from overseas bases. Sound familiar?

States snubbed: Then on top of the math error and the admitted excess capacity miscalculation, there's also the question of whether the Department of Defense (DOD) and BRAC can legally target National Guard installations, as they have the Meridian 186th, without input from the Governor. Remember, National Guard bases and the guard units themselves are state-run entities. The governor activates guard units, and his adjutant general commands and administers them. We're waiting to see how this legal question plays out, but I think the already outstanding Meridian unit can prove its worth outside of this question. Yet again, this is another indication of how questionable, disorganized and confusing the BRAC process is.

Homeland insecurity: Finally, DOD and BRAC now have yet another contradiction which has many Americans scratching our heads. On the one hand, DOD says homeland security is now its top priority. Yet BRAC has targeted for closure Naval Station Pascagoula - one of very few Gulf of Mexico bases - a move that would leave unprotected 60 percent of our nation's shipping and most of our busiest ports. That sounds more like a recipe for homeland insecurity. With the Keesler "math error," the 11th hour scaleback, and the questions about States' roles in the closure process, it seems someone has again seriously miscalculated, and we need to make corrections.

At BRAC's regional hearing in New Orleans on July 22, the communities of Pascagoula, Meridian, Biloxi and Stennis Space Center made impressive and convincing presentations on why our bases should remain. Like our Congressional delegation, these communities know BRAC's blunders too well, having successfully fended off BRAC many times in past rounds. Amid all the miscalculations and contradictions, the 2005 BRAC round ought to leave us with one clear conclusion - the only thing needing realignment, or better yet, closure, is the Base Realignment and Closure Commission itself.

MDEQ awards Solid Waste assistance grant to Hancock Co.

The Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality (MDEQ) has awarded Hancock County a $33,200 grant for a household hazardous waste collection project.

"We are pleased this grant will assist the efforts of Hancock County in improving their management of solid waste," said Charles Chisolm, MDEQ Executive Director.

Cities and counties compete for Solid Waste Assistance Grants through the Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality. These grants are utilized by local communities for programs to prevent and clean up unauthorized dumps; to aid in hiring local solid waste enforcement officers; for public education efforts on solid waste disposal and recycling; and to establish programs for the collection of white goods, bulky wastes and recyclables.

St. Clare Catholic Church to begin RCIA Sept. 1

THE SEA COAST ECHO

It's been said that many people, in some way, are searching for God. Reaching out to those who are looking for answers is what RCIA (Rite of Christian Initiation for Adults) is all about. It is a continuing process of prayer, study and discussion for those who are interested in information about the Catholic Church.

Noel Phillips, Director of Religious Education for the Parish, said that the lay members of St. Clare will be reaching out to:

1. Unbaptized adults and baptized Christians from other faiths who want to learn more about the Catholic faith and possibly become Catholics; and

2. Catholics who may have been baptized but have not received the other Sacraments of the Catholic Church.

The first phase begins on September 1 at 7 p.m. at the St. Clare Parish Hall, 234 South Beach Boulevard, Waveland. RCIA is a preliminary program to explain the process of preparing adults for initiation into the church through the reception of the Sacraments of Baptism, the Eucharist and Confirmation. Parishioners are invited to ask friends and neighbors to the meeting, as well as those who may benefit from the inquiry.

For further information, please contact Noel Phillips at 228-467-3296 or the Rectory at 228-467-9275.

Band -- schools

Director, was informed that the band program would be placed under the athletic department, and that he would have to report to Walt Esslinger, the athletic director.

After a heated discussion, Superintendent David Kopf agreed to withdraw item 12 from the agenda, which dealt with the approval of supplemental pay for the fine arts department.

This comes on the heels of a similar disagreement the board had with supplemental pay for the district's high school coaches.

Kopf said the move was made by Hancock High Principal Donnie Gholston, in order to free up more time for Gholston by reducing paperwork.

"It was an administrative decision in the day-to-day operation of the school. That's how Mr. Gholston wanted to handle it."

Board member Peggy Ladner, district four, said Kopf's answers did not provide a good enough reason for the move. Furthermore, she said, the move was directly in violation of board policy, as a board vote in 2001 stated that the band was not part of the athletic department. A second vote would be needed to reverse the decision.

"If you're going to use a play on words and say we didn't have an (athletic director) at the time, that dog's not gonna hunt," Ladner said. "It took board action to get (the band) out from under the athletic department, and it's going to take board action to put it back."

About a dozen band parents were in attendance for the meeting in support of McWright. After this last exchange, they gave Ladner a round of applause.

Board President Morgan Ladner said that in order to reverse this policy, Kopf had to begin by making a recommendation to the board.

"I don't need to make a recommendation," Kopf said. "You're circumventing the superintendent. You don't have any entities (in the school district). Your only point of contact is Superintendent David Kopf."

Ladner continued, saying the idea of placing a fine arts program under the athletic department was simply absurd.

"I'd like to know if Mr. Gholston is going to tell an English teacher organizing a debate team to report to the AD," she said.

Ladner also contended that Kopf's actions could have legal repercussions for the district.

"You're trying to set us up for a lawsuit," Ladner said.

At this, Ladner received a second round of applause.

Ladner said on Friday that she would write the Attorney General for an opinion on the matter.

After these exchanges, McWright, who was present at the meeting, explained the situation to band parents and staff members outside.

McWright did not answer questions from press representatives, but told the parents present he hoped the situation could be resolved.

"They broke their own chain of command," McWright said. "All I'm asking is that (the administration) acts in a professional way."

Hancock Corrections Officer Mike Bauer and transported to our local jail."

"Ladner was wanted on a dozen charges in Hancock, nine counts of unlawful depriving of medical care of a vulnerable adult, and three counts of endangerment of vulnerable adults," Hurt reported.

"In an attempt to arrest Ladner on Friday, July 29, Criminal Investigator Tom Roan said, 'We discovered a note on his door reporting he had tried to commit suicide and was taken to see a psychologist.' It was believed the note was from a family member."

Tina Cassell, VA Staff Assistant in Biloxi, had said, "The Shiyou Community Residential Home had been certified, but it was decertified on June 23, 2005."

Roan said Mrs. Shiyou was Ladner's grandmother.

Since January, 2005, there were five deaths at Ladner's Firetower residence," Roan reported.

Cassell said, "Veterans discharged from the VA hospital may still need some assisted living support. We have 25 homes in the area that are certified. It is the vet's choice as to select the home they want to stay at. We just help them find a place to receive assisted living they may need. The veterans themselves pay for the services."

During a search of Ladner's residence, Roan reported, "We received consent to do a search, we discovered a very large quantity of prescription drugs, some 150 to 200 bottles of them, some dating back to the year of 1999. Many were for former residents who died, or for others who moved elsewhere."

What triggered the investigation initially by the sheriff's department, was the death of a man on July 11, who was a veteran.

Roan stated, "The person who died on July 11 was a veteran. He fell and had an injury and was taken to the hospital on a Friday, treated and released with a prescription to be filled. The prescription was never filled and he died Sunday, two days later."

"Following the de-certified of the Shiyou Community Residential Home, there was then three vulnerable adults left residing with Ladner, two of which were vets. The next day the VA helped the two vets find new residences and the other adult (moved away) too," Roan stated.

Roan had said that he is being assisted in the investigation by Supervisor Inspector Tom Godeaux of the VA's Inspector General's Office in New Orleans.

Also Hancock Medical Examiner Norma Stiglet and others have been assisting in the investigation with continues.

Karl continued, "We went to work immediately, did some back ground checks on telephone numbers listed on the circulars and set up our plans to raid the party. On Thursday we too, received telephone calls from concerned parents who called inquiring about the party. They had discovered their kids with the circulars. The party was at the corner Bayview and 10th Street in Shoreline Park."

"The party kicked off at 9 p.m., and there was a lot of traffic in and out of the area. At 10 p.m. we sent in two undercover officers to check things out. Things really began to swing at 11:30 as we all moved in. We issued several citations. Bags of marijuana and some prescription pills were thrown on the ground by the huge crowd. We did find some small amounts of marijuana in possession by some of the participants," Karl said.

Warrants were issued for serving alcohol without a permit too.

Karl stated, "It was such a crowd, but we checked each and everyone out. We took a lot of names. We contacted parents and older members of families to come and collect the youngsters. Some were drunk. We were there until after 1:30 a.m."

"While we were set up and doing surveillance, the sheriff's office also received telephone calls from concerned citizens about the party. The party apparently was to go on for a long time. We understand there was also to be several other illicit activities," Karl added.

Sheriff Garber urges all citizens to report any types of possible illegal activities in their areas to the sheriff's office. The phone numbers are: 228-467-5101, 601-798-8555 (Picayune Exchange), or Investigators/Narcotics at 228-467-1496.

"All information will be kept in the strict confidence," Garber said.

Fourth Annual Benefit Golf Tournament for Messiah Chorus

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The Gulf Coast Messiah Chorus will host its Fourth Annual Benefit Golf Tournament on August 20, at the Gulf Hills Golf Club in Ocean Springs. The group raises a considerable part of its annual funding needs through these tournaments and is seeking assistance.

The tournament is open to men and women and will feature a 7:30 a.m. shotgun start with two, three-person teams per hole, and a three-person scramble format (best ball played).

The entry fees are $275 for a three-person team (including a hole sponsorship) and $65 for individual golfers. The tournament entry fees cover the greens fees, golf-cart rental, food and beverages (continental breakfast and lunch of hamburgers and all the trimmings), and two free "Mulligan" tickets. Tournament prizes include $300, $225, and $150 for the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd place teams, respectively; $10,000 for a hole-in-one on the par-three 17th hole; additional prizes for holes-in-one on two other par-three holes; and prizes for closest-to-the-hole on all par-three holes and the longest drive on hole #16. The "Mulligan" tickets will be used for awarding door prizes at the conclusion of the tournament.

The group still needs additional golf teams ($275), hole sponsors ($100), individual golfers ($65), and door prizes.

The names of the team sponsors, hole sponsors, and door-prize donors will be featured in the group's Fall and Spring performance programs.

The Messiah Chorus Board of Directors is soliciting teams and door prizes right now and they could certainly use your help. If you have any questions, please contact Ed Cake at 228-324-9292, Gay O'Neil at 228-872-2355, or Robert Smith at 228-896-3266.

If you don't play golf and have funds to spare, the $100 hole sponsorship is a great way to support the tournament and the Messiah Chorus. Remember, funds donated to the Messiah Chorus are tax-deductible.

If you do not have plans for that Saturday, Choral Director Hilda Barnes is seeking volunteers to "work" the tournament. Tournament tasks include helping with golfer registration; monitoring the three par-3 holes for holes-in-one; monitoring hole #16 for the longest drive; riding the food and beverage cart; giving out door prizes; and helping with breakfast and lunch.

Breakfast, lunch, and beverages will be provided for the volunteers. Please contact Hilda on her cell phone at 228-216-3474 and offer your services for the sake of the Chorus.

Gov. Barbour proclaims September 17 Mississippi Coastal Cleanup Day

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Volunteers in Hancock, Harrison and Jackson counties are needed for the 17th annual Mississippi Coastal Cleanup to be held from 8 a.m. - 11 a.m., Saturday, September 17, in conjunction with the International Coastal Cleanup—the planet's largest volunteer cleanup effort on behalf of the marine environment. Governor Haley Barbour recently signed a proclamation in support of the annual event.

"I am very proud to proclaim September 17 Mississippi Coastal Cleanup Day," said Governor Barbour.

"It is vital that we preserve the quality of Mississippi's coastal resources and waterways because of the serious impact marine debris has on wildlife, the environment and our economy. The Coastal Cleanup increases public awareness of the sources and effects of marine debris and reduces the amount of debris reaching our waterways."

The Mississippi Coastal Cleanup is a Take Pride in America event. Part of the President's USA Freedom Corps call to service, the Take Pride in America program is a national partnership established by the U.S. Department of the Interior and is an excellent opportunity for citizens and communities to demonstrate local pride, initiative and stewardship.

Registration deadline for the Mississippi Coastal Cleanup is September 2. Register on-line at www.masgc.org/cleanup or you can obtain a registration form and sign up to volunteer by calling 467-9048 in Hancock County; 374-5022 ext. 5068 or 5062 in Harrison County; 217-2037 in Jackson County; 217-2035 or 875-4424 in Ocean Springs; 875-9057 ext. 106 for the Barrier Islands (requires boat); and 475-7047 for the Grand Bay National Estuarine Research Reserve (advance sign up required to reserve canoe.)

On cleanup day, zone captains will be stationed at each site in bright yellow T-shirts to direct volunteers and give them trash bags, data cards and pencils provided by The Ocean Conservancy, bottled water compliments of the Mississippi Soft Drink Association, and a free drawstring backpack provided by Chevron Pascagoula Refinery (while supplies last). "Stash Your Trash" wristbands, safety gloves and additional cleanup supplies are courtesy of Home Depot in Biloxi. Following the cleanup, volunteers must present their meal ticket for a free lunch of hamburgers, chicken sandwiches, potato chips and Coca-Cola products at Outback Steakhouse in Gulfport between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. only on the day of the event.

Animal shelter needs your help

On Friday morning the employees at the animal shelter in Waveland arrived at work to a very big surprise. A woman drove up in a truck, got out and walked around the back to the open bed. There, the employees saw a very unusual sight. 23 puppies. Now more puppies have been added to a shelter that is already bursting at the seams with unwanted animals.

Here are some tips for dog owners. Female dogs in heat should never be left in the yard unattended. Male dogs can smell a fertile female for miles and will do anything to get to the sight. People have a whole list of reasons why they don't neuter their animals, but none of them are really good ones. You may have the prettiest & sweetest dogs in the world and want more like them, but breeding them is no guarantee that you will get more of the same. It takes many years and generations of strict breeding practices to replicate a breeds characteristics.

These puppies are available for adoption at the Waveland Animal Shelter.

The shelter is full of wonderful animals that need a second chance. The employees have a sad job when they have to put so many of these wonderful pets down. In May of this year, 338 animals were left at the shelter. 41 were adopted, 13 reclaimed and 285 were killed. If you are looking for pretty, loveable puppies, go to the Waveland Animal Shelter and look at these pups. They are Lab and Catahoula mixes and couldn't be more suited for a loving home like yours. Because of this unusual situation, these 8-10 week old puppies can be adopted for half or $35 of the normal adoption fee. Please help to find safe loving homes for these babies who didn't ask to be here.

Anyone who needs help with neutering an animal, please call 216-PETS (7387).

Union Planters' name to change

New Regions Bank signs are now up at Union Planters Bank locations in Mississippi, signifying the area banks' conversion over the weekend to Regions, systems.

The successful bank systems conversion, the first since legacy Regions Financial Corp. and legacy Union Planters Corp. merged in July 2004, included some 135 Union Planters branches located in Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas, north Alabama, south Kentucky and eastern and middle Tennessee. The remaining Union Planters branches across Regions, 15-state footprint in the South, Midwest and Texas are scheduled for conversion later in the year.

"It is an exciting time for Regions associates and customers in Mississippi," said Shane Fitzgerald, Branch Sales Manager of Regions in Bay St. Louis. "The Regions vision is to help our customers and communities realize their dreams by anticipating, understanding and meeting financial needs through responsive associates who have the ability to build effective solutions.

"We are confident that all of us will benefit long-term from being part of one of the Top 15 financial services providers in the United States," Fitzgerald said. "We have new products and expanded lending capabilities and can draw the resources of strong mortgage, insurance and securities brokerage operations for our customers."

"We are proud to be a part of the Regions team," Fitzgerald said.

To communicate the conversion and name change in the Mississippi area, Regions launched a major advertising and public relations campaign Tuesday, April 26, complete with new television, radio and newspaper ads. And, the campaign will move forward on wheels: Long-haul trucks emblazoned with the new Regions signage will move on down the roads of Mississippi for several days at some point during the next month, serving as rolling billboards to communicate the change and acquaint customers with the new Regions logo.

Part of the campaign also includes new product offerings throughout the Regions Bank system, starting with a special promotion on all new checking accounts. The promotion will include a free Regions Platinum Visa® CheckCard with the new Regions Rewards with Visa® Extras program, plus free RegionsNET® Online Banking with Bill Pay. In addition, there will be a new free business checking account that also includes the free Regions Visa® Business CheckCard with Regions Rewards and Visa Extras, plus RegionsNET Online Banking with Bill Pay.

The free Regions Platinum Visa CheckCard offers customers a number of enhancements and services including: higher daily limits, emergency cash and card replacement, cardholder inquiry, lost/stolen card reporting and warranty manager, purchase security, fraud risk identification service and zero liability protection. And, when customers use the Regions Platinum Visa CheckCard, its companion Regions Rewards with Visa Extras program allows customers to earn points toward incredible extras from more than 80 of America's best-known companies including the NFL, NASCAR and Starbucks and enjoy discounts such as free shipping or a free night's stay at some of their favorite merchants. All customers have to do to receive these extras is sign for their transactions each time they use their card.

"Consumers are not only looking for purchasing power, they want purchasing protection," said Fitzgerald. "We are pleased to be able to offer these great deals at the same time as our name change."

Did You ever PEEP a PLOVER?

Views From a Front Porch

by Paul Estronza
La Violette

laviolette@mail.datasync.com
www.annabellepublishing.com

This past January, I was asked to do a survey of Piping Plover nests on the beach from Highway 90 to Bayou Caddy. This seemed strange to me as Piping Plovers are an endangered species that nest only in early spring and summer on northeast beaches, the shores of the Great Lakes and the rivers banks of the Northern Great Plains. I was told the survey was needed to fill an ecological requirement of a regional project.

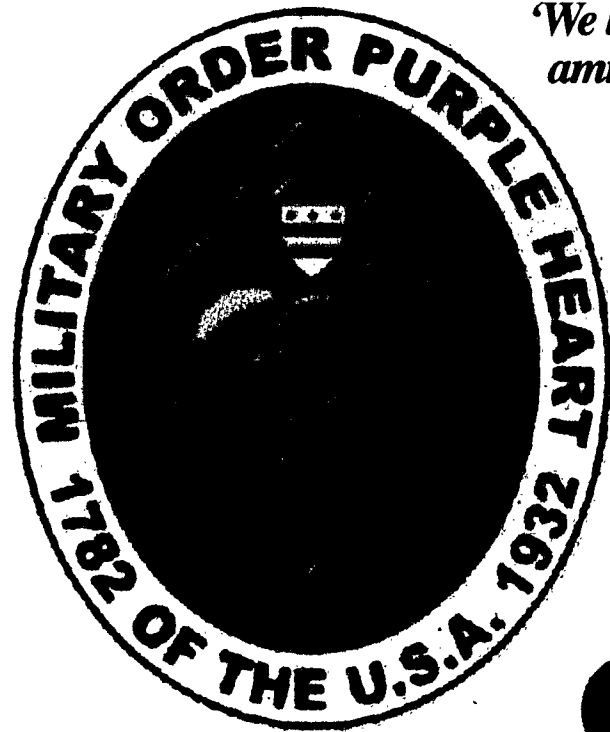

I suggested that since the birds were so few, it might be best not to look for nests per se, but rather make a census of any Piping Plovers wintering in the area. If there were any, it would be these birds that might stay around to make nests in late March, April. My sponsor agreed and told me to do that but to also look for nests to be sure.

I started walking the beach.

The Piping Plover (Charadrius melodus) is a small (6 - 6 1/2") shorebird with a white underbody and a light brown upper body. The bird's coloring makes it difficult to see on a sandy beach. However, once seen, the breeding bird and the wintering bird are distinctly different. During breeding, there is a well-defined dark brown, narrow band around the bird's throat and the bill and legs are a distinctive orange. In winter, non-breeding plovers have a light brown neckband, dull brown bill and dullish orange brown legs. The coloration change in March is a sign that breeding will soon begin.

Courtship displays are a good way to locate and identify a Piping Plover's nesting area. The male makes looping flights through the air constantly peeping, often swooping close to the female. Once a pair, the male digs a shallow depression (a nest scrape) in the sand above high tide mark and the female lays up to four eggs will be laid in the nest. The eggs hatch in about 28 days. Within hours of hatching, the chicks can feed themselves and will fly

'We bogged down in the black sands to our ankles packing machine guns and ammo. We hit the machine gun fire from the Japanese and it hit my back pack and my carbine. My buddy Walter Henry Nixon got hit through the leg. Another man, Juan, an American Indian was with us and we figured we needed to get out of there ... but when I looked back Juan had been shot through the head. That was all in the first five minutes on the beach.'

Veteran and Purple Heart recipient

Purple Hearts on their sleeves

Decades ago, they shed their blood for us; today, we honor their sacrifice

BY BENNIE

Staff Writer

The memories are still vivid for Bay St. Louis resident Mac McElveen. He remembers every detail of the events that lead him to receive his Purple Heart as if they were yesterday instead of five decades ago. But then, if you sat for hours holding your own tourniquet on a leg wounded so badly that it will require amputation, with enemy fire going on all around, the experience would probably stay etched in your mind too.

McElveen is one of the 30 plus members in the local chapter of the Military Order of the Purple Heart. The organization currently has a display at the Bay St. Louis Branch of the Hancock County Public Library. Four of the members gathered there this week to talk about their experiences.

McElveen served both in the Merchant Marines and in the Marine Corps. He joined the Merchant Marines in 1943, at 16, after the Marines told him to come back when he was old enough to shave.

After heading to Sicily at the time of the invasion, his ship was damaged and detoured to Algiers, Africa.

At the age of 18 he found himself on his way to Iwo Jima, Japan with the 5th division, 2nd Battalion, 27th Regiment of E Company as a machine gunner and a part gun fire from the Japanese and it hit my back pack and my carbine. My buddy Walter Henry Nixon got hit through the leg. Another man, Juan, an American Indian was with us and we figured we needed to get out of there. Now don't get me wrong, we didn't run, we crawled, but when I looked back Juan had been shot through the head. That was all in the first five minutes on the beach."

The objective for the company was to cut across the two and a half miles to the other side of the island and then head up the island which was about five miles long. At the end of that first day they had gone about 800 yards and had lost 85 men, but had not seen one dead enemy. They finally discovered the Japanese were pulling the dead into caves three tiers high. McElveen's machine gun was hit leaving him without a weapon, but he took a machine gun off a downed American tank as they made their way across the island, taking an airfield along the way. At the end of 10 days about 65 men were left alive. They thought they would be relieved but were sent right back to the front lines.

The fighting was fierce, McElveen said. The Japanese were not afraid to die. One of his most vivid memories, he said was looking at a dead man across the way during a sleepless night, his lifeless eyes staring upward.

On March 6 McElveen was hit in the leg with a sniper shot that hit an artery, sending blood everywhere. A corpsman came to help, gave him a needle for the pain and applied a tourniquet. Before he could put on a bandage, the man was hit in the eye and used the bandage to cover his own wound.

McElveen was left alone for several hours holding his own tourniquet, and moved to a cave for the night. The next morning a helicopter took him to Guam. On March 10 his leg was amputated five inches above his knee. The injury didn't slow him down for long though and he was dancing on a new leg at the Plaza Ballroom before the end Horstman served in both Korea and Vietnam, the recipient of three Purple Hearts for each of those wars for a total of six. He performed underwater demolition for the army with the 373rd Underwater Demolition and was trained by the Navy at Pearl Harbor. He positioned underwater cameras for the atomic bomb test at Ewitt Island in 1949.

With 27 days of duty left, he was ordered to get on a bus to Ft. Shafter and add another year to his tour of duty. From Ft. Shafter he was sent to Pusan, Korea. While waiting in a truck convoy he handed cigarettes and candy to a Korean woman. She reached in her bra and pulled out a grenade and threw it at Horstman, sending him into the air, landing on the hood of the next truck.

In spite of an unlucky start, Horstman went on to participate in three major battles with the 2nd Battalion, 5th Regimental of the year. He went on to become a successful businessman, police officer, husband and father, carrying the memory of those times forever.

in four weeks

With all this in mind I began monitoring the beach along the waters edge and from the regional piers and boat ramps, looking at the waders feeding in the shallows. It was casual work; the days were long, but the weather was pleasant. I would have liked to have had Jennie for company, but that would have been self-defeating. A few days went by and, despite seeing a fair number of rather interesting birds, I saw no Piping Plovers.

The last survey day was a long one, 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. The day's temperatures ranged from 60 F to 70 F. There was dense fog that limited visibility to less than 1/4 mile. Considering the fog, the wind was unusually strong. The tide was low and just starting to flood. As a result, the sand bars and tidal flats stretched a long way offshore; with the waterline not visible from the road due to the fog.

There were far more numerous shore birds feeding on this day than on any of the other days and the low tide and poor lighting created problems looking at the great number of birds. For example, the shore birds were dispersed farther apart than the previous days. Although the greatest numbers of birds were on the waterline located far out on the flats, a few small feeders were scattered among the closer flats feeding on exposed crustaceans. This required constant crisscrossing back and forth in order to examine each of these two or three bird groups.

Another difficulty was with the birds that were far out. They required my wading through the cold water shallows to go from one exposed bar to the next one out. Light conditions permitted these birds to be seen only in silhouette. Thus, identifying coloration could not be used and size, general shape and most importantly, bill length became a critical identification factor. This required great care in getting near enough to the birds to make identification.

But it was a great day to just walk about and look. I wouldn't say I romped, but I did relax and enjoyed myself.

The brown pelicans were present in numerous groups offshore. These were not feeding; but rather drifting in quiet companies (unlike the gulls) waiting for the sun and better visibility. One exemplary sighting, was that of three huge White Pelicans floating offshore near some pilings. I'm embarrassed to say that I wasted a great deal of time just watching them, enjoying their presence as they drifted in and out of view in the swirling fog.

In addition to the pelicans, there were numerous ducks moving in silent convoys just a few feet out from the shoreline, diving and feeding in almost a synopated fashion so that it was difficult to count any group's actual number. The ubiquitous solitary blue herons, each bird aloof and cloaked in self imposed mystery, were seen wade feeding and on somber guard duty on piers and pilings.

The feeders along the shore / water line were in large elongated groups. For long distances there would be no birds and then suddenly there would a long linear mixed grouping that stretched perhaps a hundred yards. After that, there would be almost no birds before another longish group. These heterogeneous groups included the usual retinue of shoreline feeders, snipes, killdeer, gulls, skimmers, plovers (again no Piping Plover), gulls, etc.

Because of the lighting conditions, approaching these groups close enough to make identification was especially difficult. Any wrong movement to examine birds further along in a group would cause the nearby birds to explode in flight and those birds located farther along would quickly follow. When they resettled it was difficult to tell which had been identified and which needed identifying.

It was a long day. At its end, I felt tired but not unhappy at the cause for being tired. However, the result at its end, was the same as the previous day's, no Piping Plover was found. And, of course, not a single nest.

Hearts -- honoring them

Combat Team of Easy Company. He went up a hill at the Nagaton River with 436 men and was one of the only 13 who came back down alive. As the company pushed all the way to North Korea and made its way to a hill overlooking China, they were surrounded by 150,000 Chinese. The Company was ordered to retreat to the 38th parallel where Horstman was captured by the Chinese. He spent 27 months as a prisoner of war.

After returning home, Horstman became an instructor at West Point and from there went on to serve in Vietnam with the 5th Special Forces Special Ops. In the three year there he was again wounded three times, at Ankaka, at the airport at Pleakeu in the Central Highlands and along the Ho-Chimen Trail, the main supply line for the Viet Cong.

With the Special forces, Horstman spent a lot of time behind enemy lines performing surveillance work in North Vietnam and, in and around Hanoi, and into Cambodia. He returned without being taken prisoner this time, and served as Commander Sgt. Major for the Army, training noncommissioned officers, and retiring after 25 years of service.

Bayou Phillips resident Tom Dempsey served in Vietnam in the 3rd Battalion, 26th Marine Division of India Company. He trained at Paris Island, North Carolina as a machine gunner and was shipped to Camp Pendleton for jungle training. He was deployed to Vietnam in 1968 to a base outside of Danang. From there he went to a helicopter ship the USS Tripoli and flew special operations missions in jungle settings. He was wounded on one of those missions in March of 1969 and after 6 months in a mash unit at China Beach, he was sent home on a medical retirement.

Diamondhead resident Henry Cook served with the 5th Special Forces Group

(Airborne) in 1967 and 1968 and with the 4th Mobile Guerilla Force in 1969 and 1970. He also served as Commander of the Section Battalion 4th Mobile Strike Force (Airborne, Mike Force). In Vietnam the guerilla unit performed operations in the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese base areas. The Mobile Strike Force, like the Mobile Guerilla Force was led by American Green Berets and made up of Cambodians and some Vietnamese mercenaries, said Cook.

Cook got his first Purple Heart on February 3, 1968 at the Tet Offensive and the second just five days later when his hospital unit was attacked at Dongten. Though he chooses not to talk a lot about his time in Vietnam, Cook says that it was, in a way, the best time of his life.

"There are two me's," said Cook. "Before and after Vietnam. It's where I matured and I learned the meaning of duty, honor and country. I also learned the meaning of integrity and patriotism and men who love their country enough to die for it.

The only anguish from that time comes from the way that veterans were treated when they came home.

A very vivid memory from childhood is going with two aunts to a train station during World War II and seeing a young man out of uniform. My aunts asked him why he wasn't in the service. Later when I came to New Orleans on crutches and with a chest full of decorations, a woman asked me why I wasn't ashamed to be seen wearing my uniform. I flashed back to that earlier time."

If you would like more information on the Military Order of the Purple Heart please call Cook at 586-2623. They meet each month at Diamondhead. And look for more stories featuring their members, including two time Purple Heart recipient Eugene Jones.

THE SEA COAST ECHO
The Farm Service Agency (FSA) is looking for candidates for the farmer-elected County Committee election to be held this fall.

FSA will notify nominees and mail election ballots to eligible voters in mid-November. Completed ballots must be returned to FSA offices and postmarked by December 6. Hancock's Local Newspaper since 1892

Advertising is an investment in the success of your business. Every business has some kind of competition, either within the town, nearby city or from mail order firms. Your potential customers are being courted by your competitors. If you do not invite those customers to do business with you, they are likely to forget you and buy elsewhere. It is not uncommon for consumers to switch their trading from one store to another. Advertising helps to keep old customers and equally as important, make new ones.

Our community is constantly growing which means that potential customers are moving into the market area all the time. Advertising gives these newcomers a reason to visit your store.

Most businesses budget for their advertising expenses just as they do for other necessities such as rent, phones, etc. Smart business people realize that advertising is imperative to keep their business growing.

Another reason to advertise is that advertising is news! You profit by telling our readers what is new in your store. Through advertising, you can let a wide audience know the product lines you carry, the quality of your merchandise, the completeness of your service and the character of your store.

If you have something to sell, then you have something to advertise. When you have nothing to advertise, you are out of business. Advertising is designed to build your business and works best when it is repeated regularly. Consistent advertising pays off!

Now that you know some of the reasons to advertise, you're probably wondering how you can advertise most effectively. Surveys show that ads in local newspapers have more impact than in any other medium. The Sea Coast Echo goes into the majority of the homes in Hancock County. The Sea Coast Echo is full of interesting reading, it is a part of our community. People like to read about people and The Sea Coast Echo is full of pictures and stories about local people. The most important reason to advertise in The Sea Coast Echo is that our readers are your customers.

If you're looking for the best advertising value for your money, then you should contact the advertising department at The Sea Coast Echo. One of our advertising representatives will be happy to discuss the many advertising options offered by The Sea Coast Echo. For more information you may call 467-5474, Monday through Friday 8am to 5pm, or stop by our office at 124 Court Street, Bay St. Louis.

Hebrews 11:1

One thing that we can never have too much of is faith. Living in today's fast-paced world, and trying to keep up with our hectic daily lives is not always easy. Unfortunately, anxieties have become a greater part of our everyday living, and for many of us, it seems that each day brings new problems. We should resign ourselves to the fact that we will always have concerns to handle; however, the important thing is how we let these concerns affect us. Expressions such as, "I should have" or "I could have" are phrases that indicate that we are living in the past, and should serve as a reminder as to how we should act in the future. Although we cannot change our past mistakes, we can build on them to help make us a more faith-filled person. Being accountable for our actions and knowing that God is aware of our weaknesses, as well as our strengths, should encourage us to try to do what is in His will. Being overly concerned with "what could have been" is not only demoralizing, it reflects a lack of faith. Trusting in God and believing in ourselves, along with daily prayer, will help develop our faith and help us to live better lives.

Winning formulas against crime, drugs

New York City and Boston stand out as the two cities in all the nation which have most drastically decreased crime and drug trafficking. In both cases, community policing has been the centerpiece of all the strategies and programs which spelled their success.

However, Boston's story is studied here because it is the easiest to trace and understand.

At the very bottom of the problems was the blatant lack of communication between all officials, individuals and community groups in Boston.

This was the first thing the people of Boston discovered as they fumbled around for answers and remedies to crime.

Reminiscent of the lack of information sharing between the FBI and CIA which made the disaster of 911 possible, the Boston police shared nothing with probation officers, the clergy, community organizations, social counselors and - yes! - street gangs.

All that turned around dramatically as the various agents and agencies in Boston began to do a very simple, basic thing: talk to each other.

Upon dialoguing with one another, they discovered that they had many vital, necessary things to share, to discuss in detail, to plan around and to implement together with the youth - even gangs - in their community.

Once their light bulb came on, people working directly with gang-involved youth took their shared objective of saving lives and painstakingly wove programs involving the Boston Police Department, Massachusetts Probation Service, U.S. Attorney for Massachusetts, District Attorney, Ten Point Coalition, research partners from the Boston Gun Project of the Kennedy School of Government at Harvard, Northeastern University College of Criminal Justice, National Institute of Justice.

Other institutional partners are the Boston Community Centers Streetworker Program, Housing Police, MBTA Police, Boston School Police, Animal Control, Massachusetts Juvenile Probation Service, DEA (U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration), ATF (U.S. Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms), DYS (Department of Youth Services), City of Boston, School Department, Massachusetts State Police, Parole Board, Massachusetts Department of Corrections, Executive Office of Public Safety, and the Criminal History Systems Board.

To be sure, this is a daunting list of entities which must be dealt with, communicated with, consulted with, planned with and partnered with in the communal struggle to save the lives and promote the education and well-being of youth by a concerted effort.

If even one of these entities would be omitted in the communal effort to coordinate all the community segments, it would be a notable omission, for every group is important to the overall solution to crime and drug trafficking. So, meditate on the whole list and try to understand how much networking, communicating and planning must take place.

By fits and starts, Boston citizens, officials, agencies and groups became acquainted, dialogued and gave birth, one by one, to Operation Night Light, Operation Cease Fire, Youth Violence Strike Force, The Youth Service Providers Network, Street Smarts Initiative, Summer of Opportunity, Gang Resistance Education and Training (G.R.E.A.T.), Boston Ten-Point Coalition, National Ten-Point Leadership Foundation, Brighter Horizon, Fatherhood Program, MatchPoint, Boston Community Centers Streetworker Program, The Boston Strategy to Improve Student Attendance, Boston Private Industry Council, The Boston Jobs Project: Outreach and Recruitment, Job Placement at Work-based Learning, Vouching, Case Management, Alternative Education.

Clearly, not every city has needs identical to or as comprehensive as those of Boston.

However, some variation of this multi-pronged strategy must necessarily be present in any community of any size which has a severe youth crime and drug trafficking problem.

There is neither space nor feasibility here to summarize, let alone analyze, the Boston Strategy programs just enumerated. It behooves each of us, certainly those involved in youth education, youth programs or law enforcement, to study, analyze and attempt to implement whichever programs will best benefit the safety and education of our youth.

After President Bill Clinton pushed a National Anti-gang and Youth Violence Strategy modeled on Boston's approach in 1997, why is it that the Boston Strategy is still not a model used by most communities of the United States? Crime statistics make it drearily, painfully clear that there are hardly any U.S. communities not in need of this strategy.

Is it false pride which drives most municipalities across the nation to fight Crime and drug trafficking their way, even when their way has proved to be relatively ineffective? Is it the hubris and arrogance of officials which causes them to snub a sure winner like the Boston Strategy while they are mired in their failed been-there-done-that strategies?

Meanwhile, in conjunction with the Boston Strategy and other communal efforts, there are the stellar individuals who are doing more than many official, incorporated groups. A recent talk show caller proved to be most inspirational:

"I could neither read nor write when I got out of high school, but I made the most of life and I have made an excellent living."

Since I was able to do that, I decided to help other youngsters who were having problems with their schooling and training. I took ten boys under my wings, and I trained each one to a level of excellence in a profession."

Suppose 1000 men in every community decided to follow that example by taking ten young men under their wing. Women, of course, could do something analogous with ten young women, using the local templates available in every community.

Further, think of Caucasian Judy Watts, mother, grandmother, child-care worker, social activist and political lobbyist dedicating her life to black children in the Viney Reynolds Parent/Child Development Center in the B.W. Cooper project in New Orleans.

We must make ways of funding such smaller programs as well as the larger. Hands down, the biggest bang for a city's buck will invariably come from communities investing in the passionately motivated, highly effective one-on-one programs.

Reflections on Life

Scripture Says

By Ed Young

God will show us the true meaning of our lives on Earth

Ever since the dawn of civilization, man has asked certain crucial questions. Such as, what is the purpose of life? What is the best kind of life? What or who is God? How can we tell the truth from falsehood?

Who or what has the answer to such profound questions? To seek a scholarly philosopher, would that suffice? Would the writings of Plato, or Locke, maybe Descartes, have satisfying answers? Probably not.

Who, or what, or where can one find the answers to these questions?

Open and read the number one selling book of all time, the Bible.

Here are words to live by: "Trust in Lord with all thy heart and lean not unto thy own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge him, and He shall direct thy path. Be not wise in thy own eyes; fear the Lord and depart from evil. It shall be health to thy navel, and marrow to thy bones. Honor the Lord with thy substance, and with the first fruits of thy increase." Proverbs 3:5,9.

The Bible from Genesis to Revelations; God is saying to man, get to know me. Trust in my judgment. Lean not to your own understanding. If you are wise, read my word and blend into me. I know all about you and have a path of life only you can travel. Take my hand and see how good the Lord is.

Dear Reader, a good place to begin to understand wisdom and to understand the mind of God, read in Proverbs daily.

Your path will become straight and clearer.

Word of the Week

By Dennis Prutow

Anger is dynamite waiting to explode

Amazingly, the Bible says, "Be angry, and yet do not sin" (Ephesians 4:26). The Bible also tells us "outbursts of anger" are among the "deeds of the flesh" (Galatians 5:19-20).

The Bible exhorts you to "let all bitterness and wrath and anger...be put away from you" (Ephesians 4:31). How can this happen? How can you be angry and yet not sin?

Here is a clue. "Tremble [with anger], and do not sin; meditate in your heart upon your bed, and be still" (Psalm 4:4). The point is simple.

When we get angry, we tend to attack others. We lash out at them with a torrent of verbal abuse. The better part of wisdom is to "be still." We should bite our tongues and keep silent.

Why? The real sin comes in verbal abuse or worse yet in physical abuse. Anger can build into hate which in turn takes vengeance. And so you'd better watch out!

You'd better remember the words of Jesus. "You have heard that the ancients were told, 'You shall not commit murder' and 'Whoever commits murder shall be liable to the court.' But I say to you that everyone who is angry with his brother shall be guilty before the court" (Matthew 5:21-22). Anger, which is not controlled, is a volcano. When it erupts, everyone suffers.

Such is the nature of sin. For a free audiotape on this subject, call 1-800-777-0389; e-mail free_tape@juno.com; or visit: www.w-e-m.org

The Neville's bring New Orleans soul to Bay Magic

THE SEA COAST ECHO
The Neville Brothers will bring their unique style of R&B to the stage at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis, Friday and Saturday August 19 and 20 at 9 p.m. Tickets start at just $19.95 and are available at the Casino Magic Box Office, by calling 1-800-5-MAGIC-5 or at any Ticketmaster location. Premium seating is also available and you must be at least 21 to attend all shows.

With four powerfully unique personalities, the Neville Brothers thrive on an explosive fusion of diversity and unity.

The collective of talented brothers is world-famous for its embodiment of the New Orleans sound. Aaron, Art, Charles and Cyril Neville have expanded the horizons of New Orleans R&B while honoring the music's roots and tradition.

Drawing on the vast resources and multiple styles of African-American music, The Neville Brothers have combined R&B, jazz, reggae, and elements of rock and Zydeco with a harmony-based funk groove all their own.

The careers of Art and Aaron Neville began in the early 50's around the street corners, on the porches and at house parties in the notorious Callopie Projects. Aaron is perhaps the best known of the brothers.

His hits include "Tell It Like It Is" in 1966 and his duets in the 80's with Linda Ronstadt on "All My Life" and "Don't Know Much." Art first came to note well before Elvis, having recorded "Mardi Gras Mambo" with the Hawkettes in 1954. "Mardi Gras Mambo" continues to get heavy airplay and respectable sales during the local Mardi Gras festivities.

The Neville Brothers

After the four put together careers separately and not having played together for eight years, the brothers united to help record the universally acclaimed "The Wild Tchoupitoulas" a year after their mother's death in 1975.

They credit their uncle with getting them to join forces.

"He told us that our mother and father had always wanted to see us work together as a band," Charles recalls. "He knew that if we got together as a family, it would happen."

The brothers became a best-loved local attraction and in 1988, they won a Grammy with "Yellow Moon." Then in the 1990's, Brother's Keeper cemented their star status.

The Neville Brothers have gold and platinum records in six different countries and have been the featured television performers on "Good Morning America," "Today," "Oprah," "Saturday Night Live," "Letterman" and "The Tonight Show."

Ohr-O'Keefe membership drive kicks off this month

The Ohr-O'Keefe Museum of Art is kicking off its annual membership drive on August 15, 2005. During the three-week membership campaign, active museum members will encourage individuals and businesses to join the "Mad Potter's Society." Any one joining or renewing before the opening of the new museum next summer will be a Charter Member of the museum. Our restructured membership package contains a variety of membership levels, individual and corporate, that caters to an array of interests and opens the door to a world of new opportunities.

In less than one year, the d'Ohrs will be opening to our new Frank Gehry designed museum. It is the only museum in the southeastern region with a working art studio as part of the main campus. Members receive discounts on classes and at some levels discounts on workshops and also are given the opportunity to take advantage of the many educational programs offered at the museum. Ohr-O'Keefe is the only affiliate museum of the Smithsonian Institute on the Mississippi Gulf Coast. Smithsonian membership is included in memberships at the $500 level and above, and is only a $20 addition to memberships less than $500. It is also one of the few museums in the Southeast with dedicated spaces and programming for African American art, history and culture. No matter what membership level you choose, you will be embarking on an incredible journey that will change the face of the arts in Mississippi. Your participation is essential and vital to our success!

The anticipation is growing fast, so now is the time to become a member. The benefits of membership are outstanding for individuals, families and businesses.

You do not want to miss out on the opportunity to be a front-line supporter of the most exciting new museum in America.

Becoming a member is easy! Join online at www.georgeohr.org or call Dawn Denton, membership coordinator at 228-374-5547 ext. 22 or membership@georgeohr.org.

A man (Denzel Washington) dressed in gray and carrying a handbook for angels arrives at the house of a preacher (Courtney B.
Vance), claiming to be heaven-sent in this 1996 fantasy. Tension builds wife (Whitney Houston), a beautiful woman with a heart of gold who sometimes is neglected by her husband.

Saturday

Movie: Little House on the Prairie

This 1974 pilot film launched a series that

Family Best Bets

would endure as a family favorite for nearly a decade — and beyond, thanks to repeats. Based on the books by Laura Ingalls Wilder, played here as a child by Melissa Gilbert, the warm saga casts Michael Landon as the loving patriarch of a late-19th-century
Minnesota clan. Karen Grassle plays his wife;
Melissa Sue Anderson also stars.

1 p.m. on FAM

Movie: Gold Diggers: The Secret of Bear Mountain

Beth (Christina Ricci), a city teen transplanted to a tiny town, finds a unique way to fill her summer. She and her tomboyish new friend, Jody (Anna Chlumsky), go searching for treasure hidden in a mountain cave by a 19th-century pioneer woman. But there's a villain: the abusive boyfriend (David Keith) of Jody's mom, who wants the treasure and isn't above taking Jody hostage to get

it. Diana Scarwid and Polly Draper also star in this 1995 adventure.

3 p.m. on FAM

Movie: Murder She Purred: A Mrs. Murphy Mystery

A cat named Mrs. Murphy and a dog named Tucker help their mistress, Mary Haristeen (Ricki Lake), sniff out clues when a man with business ties to her handsome new neighbor is murdered. Blythe Danner and Anthony Clark provide the voices of the crime-solving critters in this family-friendly story based on a novel by Rita Mae Brown. Ed Begley Jr. and Linden Ashby also star.

Sunday Best Bets

1:30 p.m. on 6-NBC

NASCAR Racing

A year that started promisingly with a Daytona 500 victory has gone downhill for Jeff Gordon. A recent stretch that included four unfinished races and six finishes of 30th or worse has placed Gordon in a precarious spot. He almost needs a win. Fortunately for him, the Allstate 400 at the Brickyard (formerly the Brickyard 400) is a race he's won a record four times, matching the Indy Motor Speedway feat of all-timers A.J. Foyt, Rick Mears and Al Unser Sr.

7 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

The Simpsons

Ask the "American Idol" judges: Song choice is everything. Lisa (voice of Yeardley Smith) plans to sing "Mockingbird" in a talent competition, but another contestant (voice of Fantasia Barrino) does it better. Homer (voice of Dan Castellaneta) saves the day by composing an anthem about Springfield, which gives Lisa the edge she needs to win. He then appoints himself her manager but is so insufferable that Lisa fires him in "A Star Is Torn."

8 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Desperate Housewives

In "Suspicious Minds," a bored Gabrielle (Eva Longoria) plans a fashion show featuring the women of Wisteria Lane, one of whom — Susan (Teri Hatcher) — is reeling after learning Gabrielle's secret. Lynette (Felicity Huffman) uses her business savvy to solve a problem at home.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

Movie: Deep Impact

An enormous comet is threatening to collide with Earth, and we're not talking about a fender bender; this crash is expected to destroy everything and everyone on the planet. While ordinary folks begin preparing for the end, an extraordinary ex-astronaut (Robert Duvall) tries to prevent it by leading a mission to nuke the comet out of business. Tea Leoni, Morgan Freeman, Elijah Wood and Vanessa Redgrave also star in this tense 1998 thriller.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order: Criminal Intent

Goren and Eames (Vincent D'Onofrio, Kathryn Erbe) investigate the murder of a couple in the Witness Protection Program in "The Good Child."

The prime suspects are those they testified against — until the detectives uncover a web of secrets surrounding the biological father (guest star John Shea) of the couple's daughter (guest star Gaby Hoffman).

8:30 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

American Dad

Poor Stan. The harder he tries to stop Haley's rebellious behavior, the worse it gets. First, he takes a razor to her newly dyed green hair, and she reacts by moving into her boyfriend's van. He responds by cutting her off financially, so she gets a job ... in a strip club. Steve uses Roger as a chick magnet, telling girls the alien is his tragically disfigured sister, in "Stan Knows Best." Voices include Seth and Rachael MacFarlane.

9 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Grey's Anatomy

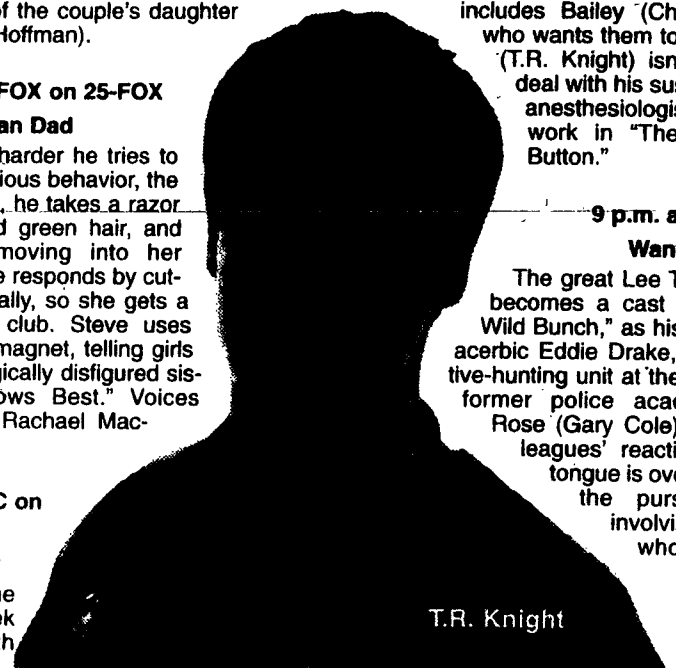

After spending the night together, Derek and Meredith

(Patrick Dempsey, Ellen Pompeo) try to be discreet at work, but everyone can tell from the way they look that something went on. And that includes Bailey (Chandra Wilson), who wants them to end it. George (T.R. Knight) isn't sure how to deal with his suspicions that an anesthesiologist is drinking at work in "The Self-Destruct Button."

9 p.m. and TNT

Wanted

The great Lee Tergesen ("Oz") becomes a cast fixture in "The Wild Bunch," as his character, the acerbic Eddie Drake, joins the fugitive-hunting unit at the request of his former police academy mentor, Rose (Gary Cole). His new colleagues' reaction to his tart tongue is overshadowed by the pursuit du jour, involving three guys who shoot up a bank for reasons having nothing to do with robbery.

7 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

My Wife and Kids

In "Michael Sells the Business," a big company makes an offer on Kyle Trucking. Michael (Damon Wayans) is eager to accept, explaining to Jay (Tisha Campbell-Martin) that selling the company would free up time for them to spend with their grandchild. The deal falls through, but guess who has another tempting proposal: none other than Michael's nemesis, Bobby Shaw (guest star Katt Williams).

7 p.m. on 4-CBS

NCIS

The body of a female petty officer is found backstage at a bikini contest. Gibbs (Mark Harmon) and his team investigate and learn there was someone stalking her, but his alibi is airtight. Then Ducky (David McCallum) tells them she was pregnant at the time she died, which could mean she was killed out of jealousy. Sasha Alexander and Michael Weatherly also star in "Bikini Wax."

7 p.m. on AMC

Movie: From Russia With Love

Widely hailed as one of the best James Bond movies, this 1963 adventure pits agent 007 (Sean Connery) against vicious enemy Red Grant (Robert Shaw) in a legendary train-fight sequence that ties into a plot by the organization SPECTRE to discredit the spy. Daniela Bianchi plays the love interest, who is "forced" to lure Bond into her arms. Lotte Lenya plays memorable villain Rosa Klebb, who hides a knife in her shoe.

8 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

House

In "Role Model," a senator (guest star Joe Morton) develops what looks like AIDS but actually has its roots in his childhood. House (Hugh Laurie) agrees to give a speech praising a new drug from Vogler's (guest star Chi McBride) company in exchange for being allowed to keep all his staff. He needn't have bothered, though, as Cameron (Jennifer Morrison), who's having trouble dealing with her feelings for him, decides to leave.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

I Want to Be a Hilton

In the season finale, the remaining two contestants vie for the prize — a $200,000 trust fund, an apartment in New York for a year, opera and museum tickets and more — by making speeches at a dinner party given by host and mentor Kathy Hilton. To prepare, they get professional coaching in writing and pronunciation. They also receive some spa pampering and surprise visits from loved ones.

8:30 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

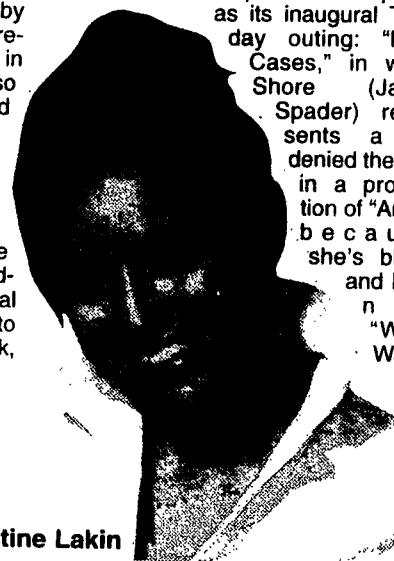

Rodney

Jack (Oliver Davis) gets into trouble at school by mirroring Rodney's (Rodney Carrington) penchant for practical jokes in "Teacher." Being sentenced to detention doesn't seem to upset Jack, and when Rodney and Trina (Jennifer Aspen) meet his teacher (guest star Christine Lakin, "Step by Step"), they understand why. Barry (Nick Searcy) struggles to overcome his fear of public speaking.

9 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Boston Legal

For those who feared the law drama would be permanently replaced by "Grey's Anatomy," fear no more. It's back on a new night. And what a great encore episode ABC picked as its inaugural Tuesday outing: "Head Cases," in which Shore (James Spader) represents a girl denied the lead in a production of "Annie" because she's black, and Den-

Christine Lakin

Thinking?" Crane has an affair with the wife of a big-spending client.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order: Special Victims Unit

Mary Stuart Masterson guest stars in "Weak" as a psychiatrist who helps Benson and Stabler (Mariska Hargitay, Christopher Meloni) investigate a series of assaults. One of the victims is a patient of hers who has schizophrenia. The detectives find a likely suspect, but the evidence is telling conflicting stories.

Going Tribal

In this new series, explorer Bruce Parry seeks out groups of people who have managed to remain untouched by the modern world. In the opener, he is in Ethiopia living among the Suri, a violent tribe where the men engage in stick fights and blood is consumed. He takes part in the blood-drinking as well as the scarification ritual in "Dangerous Games: Suri."

Smallville
 If Lana, Lois and Chloe (Kristin Kreuk, Erica Durance, Allison Mack) don't seem quite themselves, that's because they aren't in "Spell." Lana accidentally invokes a 17th-century curse, causing all three girls to be possessed by witches who proceed to turn Smallville upside down. Clark's (Tom Welling) efforts to stop them rob him of his powers.

7 p.m. on 6-NBC
Joey
 Indie film "It" girl Christina Ricci guest stars in "Joey and the Fancy Sister" as Mary Teresa, a previously unseen Tribbiani sibling who loves rubbing Joey's and Gina's (Matt LeBlanc, Drea de Matteo) noses in her upwardly mobile lifestyle. the fact that a local hottie has her cap set for him.

In Focus

Dr. Phil's son apparently has found his own successful television outlet, since author Jay McGraw returns as host of "Renovate My Family" when the unscripted Fox series begins its second season Monday, Aug. 8.

The program again visits clans and, with assistance from experts in virtually every field imaginable, does a complete makeover on every member of the given household. The houses themselves undergo transformations, too.

One of the most seminal figures in country music - and in American music overall, for that matter - is profiled as the PBS series "American Masters" offers the episode "Hank Williams - Honky Tonk Blues" Wednesday, Aug. 10.

Williams' professional brilliance sometimes cloaked his personal flaws, which the program doesn't ignore. Fans of tunes such as "Your Cheatin' Heart" and "I'm So Lonesome I Could Cry" are sure to appreciate his artistry all over again.
